

REGGIE CLEMMONS

BIOGRAPHY

BIOGRAPHY

Reggie Clemmons is a retired U.S. Army General Officer with commercial experience as a government contractor and has held numerous positions in industry. He has utilized his leadership skills to help companies in the development and execution of IT consulting and Readiness/Training Services within DOD, civilian government and commercial areas.

Reggie has worked extensively in the area of business development and strategic planning where he has helped companies in matching their core capabilities with appropriate Market Business Areas and assisted in penetrating organizations and agencies to develop new business opportunities.

Reggie's military career, over 35 years long, encompassed both field command posts, some of them in combat or conflict situations, and educational positions. In addition, Reggie has extensive experience in joint and interagency operations having served in numerous assignments within the United States and abroad.

Prior to his retirement from the Army as a Major General in 2003, he led one of the most prestigious Joint Senior Service Colleges. As commandant of the National War College, National Defense University, he educated and mentored future leaders in DOD, DOS, other National Agencies, as well as Allied nations in National Military Strategy and Security. During his tenure, he oversaw a complete curriculum revision of the NWC designed to prepare officers to meet the new challenges posed by terrorism.

A Wilmington, North Carolina native, Reggie is a graduate of the Army War College. He holds a B.S. from North Carolina Agricultural and Technical State University and earned a M. Ed from South Carolina State University. He possesses a Top Secret Clearance.

7422 Carmel Executive Park Dr.
Suite 202
Charlotte NC 28226
info@mbdi.com
704.553.0000
www.mbd.com